Waite Tells Jury He Is Ready to Die in Chair

MEXICANS SHOOT 3 U. S. SOLDIERS

POISONER INSISTS HE IS SANE

New York Slayer, Under Cross-Examination, Says He Once Thought of Killing His Wife

By International News Service.

New York, May 26.—Indifferent to the fate which may be meted out to him for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, Arthur Waite, under cross-examination today, frankly testified that he did not fear the electric chair.

"I am prepared to die," he said. The sordid details of thievery and killings in which Waite yesterday implicated himself as a monster of the wickedest kind, were lacking today. There was little to be developed under the State's cross-examination. Waite admitted that he knew it was wrong to steal, as he had stolen all his life, and that it was wrong to murder as he had murdered his wife's uncle.

Miss Catherine Peck, sister of the murdered man, followed Waite on the stand and testified about buying some marmalade and after opening it the second time finding it full of something like sand. This was the ground glass which Waite admitted he placed in the marmalade.

COURT BARS WOMEN.

Justice Shearn barred all women excepting women reporters from the courtroom when Waite resumed the stand.

Waite entered the courtroom apparently unaffected by his ordeal on the stand yesterday.

Walter R. Deuel, Waite's counsel, immediately took up his examination.

"Please state whether or not you made any attempt to kill your wife," asked.

"No, I did not," Waite replied.

"Did you ever have the idea of killing her?"

"Yes, it occurred to me one time, but I don't know that I would have carried it out. I assure you I made no attempt to do so."

DIDN'T FEIGN INSANITY.

Waite was then turned over to Assistant District Attorney Brothers for cross-examination. He was asked several questions, especially one asking Mr. brothers to see that his (Waite's) wife did not hear about Margaret Horton. To all of these Waite answered, "I don't remember."

Waite denied that he was feigning insanity.

4 MORE IN BOX TO TRY STUDENT

Attorneys and Citizens Co-operate to Speed Up Poison Trial at Waukegan; Note from "Jerome"

By International News Service.

Waukegan, Ill., May 26.—Aroused by the seeming improbability of Lake County being able to furnish a jury to try Will Orpet, attorneys and citizens summoned as veniremen cooperated today to expedite the trial of the young student accused of killing his school-love, Marian Lambert.

Starting on the eight hundred of the veniremen, rapid progress was made, and at noon four jurors were passed by both sides and sworn in record time. There are now eight seats in the box occupied and it was forecasted by attorneys that tomorrow night will see the jury completed so that testimony can be taken up the first of next week.

The men selected today are:

J. J. BRAND, merchant; married, with two children.

E. K. BOCK, grocer, 49; married, one child.

JAMES O'SHEA, 50, salesman; married, one child.

SAMUEL BRADBURY, printer, 55; married, four children.

Judge Donnelly, who has employed every effort to hasten the trial was pleased with the progress made and urged speed in getting the next and last four.

The session today was enlivened a bit when the judge passed around a postcard, which he received from New York, referring to the educational test that had been employed in the trial to trip up jurors. Written on the card was this:

Judge Donnelly: Hypothetical means opinion without proof; punitive, to punish; preparedness, to qualify. For other definitions write Mr. Jerome, 37 Liberty street, New York.

The message was signed "W. Dixon."

The "Mr. Jerome" is presumed to be William Travers Jerome, the "Nemesis" of Harry K. Thaw.

GAINS FOR FRENCH AT VERDUN

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, May 26.—While the Germans were pounding away with their big guns against the French positions west of the Meuse last night, the French suddenly directed vigorous counter attacks east of the river, recapturing a trench which the Germans had taken twenty-four hours earlier.

A continuous cannonade of terrific power was carried out against the French positions at Le Mort Homme (Dead Man Hill), and in Avocourt Wood, the French War Office announced today in its official communique.

After the French trenches at Le Mort Homme had been shelled for some time, the Germans delivered an infantry attack, but it was repulsed by the heavy machine gun fire and the curtain fire of the French artillery.

PENETRATE GERMAN TRENCH.

As the Germans retired, their big guns behind the battle line again set into action and the bombardment of the French positions was resumed with its previous fury.

To the east of the Meuse the French attacked between Haudremont quarry and Thiaumont Farm, where they penetrated a German trench. This earthwork remained in French hands. To the north of this sector the French delivered another attack against the German position west of Fort Douaumont and north of Thiaumont Farm, where further progress was made.

Military critics now look for another series of savage infantry assaults on the western end of the Verdun front, with the Germans renewing their pressure against the French positions around Hill No. 304.

FRENCH COMMUNIQUE.

The text of the official communique follows:

"In the Argonne we successfully exploded a mine at Fille Morte.

"On the left bank of the Meuse there was a very violent artillery engagement in the sectors of Avocourt wood and Le Mort Homme. In the latter region a German attack, which was being prepared for debouching from the trenches, was rendered fruitless by us under our curtains of fire.

"On the right bank a counter-attack made us masters of a trench element occupied yesterday by the enemy between Haudremont wood and Thiaumont farm. North of the farm we progressed with a grenade attack during the night and took some prisoners. The night was comparatively quiet on the rest of the front."

WAR SUMMARY

The battle at Verdun was practically deadlocked again today, according to the French official statement. Paris said a French counter attack regained trenches lost the day before, and reported a heavy bombardment south of Dead Man's Hill.

The French line in this section is slowly falling back, while the French guns prevent the Germans occupying the relinquished territory.

The trench lines are now apparently separated by a stretch of territory in which neither side can maintain any force. The French appear to be reforming their lines along the Esnes—Chattancourt road, where they are backed and supported by the western group of forts defending Verdun.

From both Vienna and Rome, official reports agree that the Italian forces have been driven back to a point about eight miles inside Italy, running from Asiero to Asiago.

General Brusati, the Italian commander, has been deposed as a result of the Austrian victories.

The Austrians have advanced about ten miles, over territory where they fought at the greatest disadvantage, in about one week. They are within twenty miles of Vicenza, and within about twenty-five miles of Verona. The capture of Vicenza would undoubtedly force a swift Italian withdrawal from the whole front north and northeast of that city, and a thirty-mile advance from Vicenza would give the Austrians Venice. These are not probabilities, but from the impressive manner in which the Austrians have smashed back the lines, they must be regarded as possibilities.

The Austrians have won back in a week territory it took the Italians a year to occupy.

The British and Mesopotamian fronts were quiet.

FOOD RIOTS IN GERMANY; 18 WOMEN HURT

London, May 26.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that eighteen women were wounded in a fight between the police and food rioters at Frankfort-on-the-Main on Wednesday night, according to a dispatch received at The Hague.

The riot is said to have started owing to a shortage of meat in the local butcher shops. Three hundred and fifty women, who had been told there was no meat for them, marched through the streets carrying black famine flags and singing socialistic songs.

The women forced their way into one butcher shop, although it was guarded by soldiers and policemen. After a search they found some meat which they cut up, and continued their march holding the pieces above their heads.

The police attempted to take the meat from the women and a general fight followed in which the officers used their swords. One woman was arrested for shouting "Down with the Emperor." A local paper which referred to the affair was ordered suspended for two months.

Germans Report 600 French Captured.

By International News Service.

Berlin, May 26.—French troops that tried to advance south of Fort Douaumont were hurled back by the Germans in fierce fighting last night.

The German War Office announced today that the Germans captured 600 prisoners and twelve machine guns. Strong attacks were launched by the French in an effort to reconquer their lost positions at Fort Douaumont on the front northeast of Verdun, but the assaults broke down under the torrent of machine gun fire and the blasts from German artillery.

Gen. Friend Warned of German Plans

By International News Service.

Dublin, May 26.—That Major-General L. B. Friend, former British commander in Ireland, had been warned a number of times that the Germans would try to land arms and ammunition for the Irish rebels was brought out today before the Royal Commission investigating the Dublin revolt.

This testimony was given by Major-General Friend himself, who said: "I had frequent warnings and expected landing of German arms upon the west coast."

COMMANDER OF ITALIANS IS RETIRED

By International News Service.

Rome, May 26.—General Brusati, commander of the Italian army in Trentino which has been compelled to fall back before the Austro-Hungarian offensive, has been relieved of his command. General Brusati, instead of being shifted to another part of the line, has been retired and placed on half pay.

In spite of the violence of the bombardment and the lavish use of fresh troops, the Austro-Hungarian troops have been unable to make any headway against the powerful new positions to which the Italian troops retired between Monte Maggio and the Asea River.

Extending their infantry operations farther west, the Austro-Hungarians made strong attacks against the Italian positions northwest of Lake Garda, but were thrown back after suffering extreme losses.

Southeast of the Sugana Valley the Austro-Hungarians have attacked repeatedly in an effort to force the Italians back upon their own soil, but without success.

Hard fighting, at some points with infantry and at others with only artillery, is in progress over the entire front from the Adamello sector to the sea. In spite of the vigor of the Austrian blows a feeling of optimism prevails here and the confidence of the high command is reflected in the press and in the expression of the people.

HOLD U. S. CITIZEN IN IRELAND

By International News Service.

London, May 26.—News of the arrest of another citizen of the United States in Ireland, ostensibly in connection with the Sinn Fein uprising, although no formal charge was made against him, was made public today in a parliamentary question addressed to Premier Asquith by P. Crumley, an Irish Nationalist member of Parliament. The interpellation asks:

Why Peter Fox, an American citizen, was arrested at Carrickmore, County Tyrone, and is at present confined in Wandsworth detention barracks with no criminal charge against him, whether a letter he addressed from the prison to the United States consul at London was ever delivered, as no acknowledgment was ever received by the prisoner, and whether Fox's American citizenship papers, which were taken from him when he was arrested, will be returned to him or submitted to the American consul in London."

The first step toward the pacification of Ireland was taken today by David Lloyd George, the government mediator, when he held conferences with a number of Irish leaders.

It is understood that Mr. Lloyd-George will soon go to Ireland, where he will confer with local leaders in both the North and South.

The conference today took place in Downing street and afterwards Mr. Lloyd-George indicated that, despite the difficulties of his task, he was confident of success.

Among those with whom the "peacemaker" will have dealings are John E. Redmond, T. P. O'Connor, William O'Brien, Sir Edward Carson and leaders of the Sinn Feiners.

It is the object of Mr. Lloyd-George to establish a basis for a new government in Ireland that will be satisfactory to all factions.

Newspapers both in England and Ireland commented favorably upon the appointment of the munitions minister as pacificator of Ireland.

Shadow of Verdun Again Fills Paris With New Dread

Paris, May 26.—The shadow of Verdun is over Paris as at the end of February.

Throughout the city there is no other topic. That does not mean that confidence is weaker, but the events of the last few days have shaken the people from the comfortable feeling that the Verdun situation had reached a comparatively harmless deadlock, and that the German effort compels recognition of the fact that the danger is not yet over. The popular view is that an extempore action by the British would ease Verdun.

BLIND IN ORPET CASE, WRITES DOROTHY DIX

By DOROTHY DIX.

Waukegan, Ill., May 26.—The weary grind of trying to get a jury in the Orpet case still goes on and grows more hopeless day by day.

Literally hundreds of men have filed in and out of the jury box and by their own admission disqualified themselves for service. Most of them have been bronzed farmers with square-cut jaws, who have looked at Orpet with eyes that may have made him cower as he sat crouched at his mother's side at the end of the long counsel table.

For to the eyes of these country-men was a grim nostility that boded him no good, and you did not need to guess to know what their verdict would have been when they said that they had made up their minds as to his innocence or guilt to such a degree that no evidence could change them. One and all turned their thumbs down.

One man pathetically declared that he could not be a juror because he had had a little fifteen-year-old daughter who had been treated as Marian Lambert was, and who had tried to kill herself.

Another talesman said frankly that he could not give an unprejudiced verdict, because he had young daughters and he was always thinking of them, and it has been obvious that the same thought was practically in the mind of all of these sturdy farmers.

They were remembering their little girls at home, thinking of what they would do to the man who hurt a hair of their dear heads.

BLIND TO REAL ISSUE.

They were blind to the real issue of the trial, and the fact that the charge against Orpet is not that of his relationship with Marian Lambert, but of her death. The thing that they would be trying him for is that which in their eyes is a blacker crime than murder, the destruction of a young girl's innocence.

In their souls, these farmers had tried and condemned Orpet, not they. Hesitate to assume the responsibility of taking the boy's life or sending him to rot in jail through all the glory of his young manhood.

Like children they will not crucify him themselves, they wash their hands of that, and leave the task for others. That is why no jury has yet been gotten in Lake County to try Orpet. Possibly it never will be gotten. Certainly it will not be gotten from a jury of farmers.

Whether country people are better than city people or not, is a mooted question, concerning which there may be many opinions. Certainly their ideals of morality differ, and this has been interesting in the men who have been summoned to serve on this jury.

To them virtue is virtue, and vice is vice without any extenuating circumstances. They take no stock in affinities or soulmates, or the theory of individualism and the right to live one's own life unfettered by the shackles of convention. Everything is de black or white to them. There are no pastel shades in their unsophisticated eyes.

To the city man everything is more or less gray. Nothing is wholly good or wholly bad. He makes allowance for the weaknesses of humanity and the temptations to which we are all subject, he has unbounded compassion for the folly of youth, and knows how far a boy may drift into sin for the lure of hot young blood.

Being more accustomed to measuring wits with others, the city man is seldom so opinionated as the country man. His mind is more plastic and he finds it easier not only to make excuses for his fellow creatures but to change his own views, and for these reasons, and because the man of the world is more tolerant, Orpet may well hope that he will be tried by a city jury rather than a country jury.

A good many canvassers have been made of different groups of people to try to find out the prevalent sentiment regarding Orpet, and it is significant that in every case persons have almost to a woman believed that Orpet is innocent, while the men believe him guilty.

This is not because Orpet is young and handsome. He is so effeminate and weak looking that he makes no physical appeal to the ordinary woman. The most that he calls on is a sort of maternal pity because he looks so white and drawn and scared.

THE WOMAN'S VIEW.

Perhaps the reason that the women think Orpet innocent and men think him guilty is because men and women stand on their own psychology and only halve enough guesses at the impulses that sway the other. Women, for instance, know that while we always speak of men being the pursuer and woman the pursued, the reverse is quite as often the case.

Women know, too, just how weak and silly a young girl can be and how she will throw herself at the head of her self-confessed lover.

Every woman can look back upon some moment that she grew white just to remember in which her own life trembled in the balance, not because she was bad, not because she was immoral at heart, but because she was eighteen and the tides of life were swelling in her.

And women know the poignant, black despair of eighteen, when it is thwarted in its desires, when life did not seem to have a ray of hope left in it if one could not go to the party on which one has set one's heart, and when the day and hour seemed the end of all things.

Life teaches us philosophy. Life teaches us that the sun always shines after the rain, but at eighteen every thing is final. No rainbow spans the sky and one gives up because one is too weak to fight the good fight.

Also eighteen is self-conscious. Eighteen feels that the eyes of the world are upon it, that every tongue talks of it, that its discovery will never be lived down.

Every woman knows that it is only when we are very young that we enquire with death, that it seems alluring, melodramatic, attractive, in some morbid way. Children say "I wish I was dead" when they are crossed. Young girls think of death as something that will wrap them in romance, or even as a subtle revenge, that they will make someone sorry if they die.

For all these reasons the suggestion that Marian Lambert, under the peculiar circumstances that surrounded her, may have committed suicide seems not only possible but almost certain to women. Men say that the girl had no reason to kill herself. Women say that she was eighteen, and that was reason enough.

On the other hand, men know to just what lengths brutality will run in the way of freeing himself from a woman of whom he has grown tired and of whom he wishes to be rid. When a man's love turns to weariness and hate it will be given full play unrestrained by pity for what it can feel towards the woman who stands between him and some other woman or his desire that they believe that Orpet slayed poor little Marian Lambert as an excuse to him to cut there in the snow.

At any rate, whatever the occult reason for women believing Orpet innocent, and the men guilty, of the crime guilty, the fact remains that they do, and after a long session of fruitless searching for jurors one of the lawyers said wearily, "I wish that in lieu of them we had the constitutional privilege of sitting on juries. I would be willing to go out and collectively they are what we, women I met, for women would have the insight to see into this case at the first glance."

Accused Poisoner of Lambert Girl in Court with Mother

WILL H. ORPET AND MOTHER.

This photograph of Orpet and his grief-stricken mother was made in the Waukegan Court, where he is on trial for the murder of pretty Marian Lambert. The body of the fourteen-year-old girl was found in the woods near her home after she had been seen with the young University of Wisconsin student.

ETTOR FILES KIDNAPING CHARGES

Lawrence, May 26.—Joseph J. Ettor, with his attorney, John C. Feeney, came here today and filed with the District Court clerk, Daniel W. Mahoney, complaints charging four Lawrence police officers with assaulting him and forcibly confining him—the equivalent, Mr. Feeney said, of kidnaping.

The complaints grow out of an incident last Monday, when the Lawrence officials took Ettor from the Hotel Needham and rushed him to Boston by automobile.

The men named in the complaints were City Marshal Maurice F. McKenna, Lieutenant Charles R. Vose and Inspectors Patrick J. Morrissey and Charles R. Wondcock.

The complaints in formal language charge the four men "did make an assault" upon Ettor, and "did without lawful authority, forcibly confine and imprison" Ettor.

Judge Jeremiah J. Mahoney, after receiving the complaints, set June 2 for a hearing on them. Attorney Feeney asked that commissioner of Public Safety James W. Cadogan be summoned to appear then as a witness.

After the hearing Ettor said he would go at once to New York and would not return until the date of the June 7 hearing.

Ettor and Attorney Feeney left town by an automobile, and they were followed till they passed the city limits by an automobile containing Marshal McKenna, Lieutenant Vose and Inspector Morrissey, three of the men against whom he complained.

MEDIATION RUMOR HITS BERLIN STOCKS

Berlin, May 26.—The rumors of mediation have affected the stock market. "War babies," which have been generally weak, dropped still lower on reports that America and other neutral countries were conplotting a tender of their good offices as peace mediators. At the same time "peace stocks," such as shipping and colonial securities are in strong demand.

FRICTION IN CARPENTER ON PARADE ROSTER

Dissatisfaction is being expressed by several organizations on the eve of Boston's citizens' preparedness parade because of the positions allotted to them in line and the ex regular soldiers today served notice that they would not march.

The Spanish War Veterans are highly indignant because they were not given the right of line. Instead they were assigned to the thirty-fourth division. But they will turn out despite their feelings, although it hurts many of them to see on the official roster obscure civilian organizations far ahead of them—the city departments, for instance, they say, as far front as the seventh division.

The Elks also were far from pleased with an assignment that carried them back to the Thirty-third division and it is reported that they will be added within the first eight divisions when the "forward march is sounded tomorrow.

CLIMAX TO GRUMBLING.

The revolt of the ex-regulars was the climax to much grumbling, but as a matter of fact the veterans were not to have a very large delegation in line owing to the scattered homes of the former soldiers. Aides claim the enrollment of ex-regulars would not have exceeded 200, but the soldiers declare they would have had a full 500 or more

At a meeting held yesterday the Spanish War Veterans protested loudly over their "tail-end" assignment. They were addressed by Captain James L. Malley, aide of the Thirty-fourth division and former Boer war prisoner, who said among other things:

"I agree with you boys that the Spanish War veterans ought to have the right of line. If it were to be a military parade, but it isn't, so just keep the soft pedal on. Turn out where you are assigned. Let's make our 24th division one of the features of the parade.

"Tomorrow's turnout isn't a question of division or assignment. It is to be a vote of allegiance to Old Glory. It's to stir up patriotism which in some quarters seems to be at a low ebb. Now boys quit your kicking. Take your shoulder to shoulder tomorrow as you did in more serious times."

Captain Malley was cheered to the echo and the Spanish War vets will march if they are flanked by the closing troop of police skirmishers.

Now that it has become necessary to comment on the grumbling at the assignments it might be briefly stated that there has been much pressure behind the scenes in the past few days to change the route so that it will not be up Washington Row, and nothing will interfere with the delivery of newspapers held by business firms.

COMMITTEE REFUSED.

Failing further to change a route that had been revised once to eliminate Somerset street and Pemberton square an eleventh hour attempt was made to have the marching divisions swing up into Washington street instead of north after 6 p. m., but the committee refused. In some quarters there were even threats of "resignations.

There has been friction concerning the date and route almost from the outset, but the parade is to be a tremendous success notwithstanding. And Forecaster Smith, custodian of local weather, promises a fair and warm day tomorrow. Many of the streets were roped off today. Employees ordered as parade headquarters last night.

The explanation of Lieutenant-Colonel Benamin B. Buck, U. S. A., chief marshal, relative to assignment complaints is found in the preamble of general orders:

"The extremely brief time in which to arrange for a parade of such large numbers, in a city whose system o streets and transportation is perhaps the most complex of any large city in America, and the uncertainty as to the number of those who would participate, have made the task of effecting arrangements extremely difficult.

"Many societies or companies may therefore find that the program directs their formation at points not at times more or less annoying to them, and that their requests for particular places in the column of march have not been complied with. If such is the case, it should be borne in mind that the failure to meet their wishes is the result of circumstances which could not be controlled. All parties are therefore urged to accept the program in the same spirit of good will which actuated its framers in the great task of its preparations."

It should be said in justice to Colonel Buck and his staff that they have worked night and day and have done their level best to be impartial and to please all.

FIGHT FOREST FIRE AT WINDHAM, N. H.

Lawrence, May 26.—Help was summoned from here when a forest fire broke out in swamp land in East Windham, N. H. On account of the strike of railroad trackmen there was no one to fight the blaze, which menaced railroad property. The Lawrence firemen left on a special train and soon after their arrival had the fire under control.

CONCORD MAN ON 'THREATS' ROSTER TOLD

Concord, N. H., May 26.—George C. Dickson, an attorney and friend of the family, of Marguerite Paul Carpenter, whose husband, Ralph, wealthy Boston real estate operator, seeks to divorce her here, testified today that George A. Carpenter, Ralph's father, threatened Mrs. Carpenter at one time.

"He said," Dickson testified, "that if Quita did not quiet him but gave in different matters he would go the limit. He said he would collect the loan of $10,000 made to Quita's father, by a lawsuit."

Dickson further testified that Ralph Carpenter, who now seeks to divorce his wife, offered to give her grounds for a divorce.

"Ralph said," Mr. Dickinson testified, "I am tired of it all. Why try to keep us together? I want a divorce."

"I told him he had no grounds. We talked about different grounds for divorce, and he said:

"You can get a divorce in this State, on statutory grounds. I will name the place and time, next week, and give you the opportunity to get a divorce. I will give you the evidence."

Mr. Dickson added: "I told him I was up there on a different errand, and I said: 'You seem to want a divorce. I want a reconciliation.'"

REFERS TO THREAT.

Mr. Dickson said once George A. Carpenter and he were talking about Ralph Carpenter, and he said:

"Ralph's father told me once that Ralph didn't have the backbone of a bunch of spinach."

He told of another incident when George A. Carpenter promised that if Quita came to Wolfboro there would be a separate cottage for her and Ralph.

"The next day," said Dickson, "I had a telephone call from Quita. She was in Wolfboro. She said the cottage was not ready, and that her father-in-law threatened to arrest her.

"I told G. A. when I got him on the phone later, that I thought he was a d——d old blackguard, and that it was a rotten, low-down thing for him to do. I told him he had gotten the girl up there under false pretences, and I told him he was a d——d old blackguard. I did not say any more. I thought that was enough."

"ACCUSED QUITA."

Mrs. David T. A. Carpenter repeatedly said Quita was poisoning little Ralph's mind against him.

"I told Ralph and Quita," Dickson continued, "that the whole talk was absurd, and that they ought to get together, keep away from the influence of the family, and start out fresh.

"I told G. A. to leave Ralph alone and that he and Quita would get along all right. I told him to stop interfering. He said nothing."

GODDARD ESTATE BOND IS $3,000,000

Warwick, R. I., May 26.—The will of Robert Hale Ives Goddard, capitalist and manufacturer, has been admitted to probate by Judge Darry C. Curtis.

The bond was fixed at $2,000,000, the largest ever ordered by this tribunal. The value of the estate, it is believed, will exceed this sum.

This bond exceeds that required in the estate of former United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, for the reason that the $500,000 surety under that will was to pay debts and legacies only, although the estate is reported to be worth over $30,000,000.

The Goddard estate is the first to come under the state inheritance tax law, which requires that an inventory must be returned by June 26. R. H. I. Goddard, Jr., was confirmed executor.

Rev. Allen Hudson Drops Dead at Summer Home

Rev. Allen Hudson for nineteen years pastor of the First Congregational Church of Scituate, dropped dead today at his Summer home on Jerusalem Road, Cohasset. The cause of his death is reported as apoplexy.

Last September Rev. Mr. Hudson resigned from his church in Brockton and moved to No. 57 Hubbard Park, Cambridge. For several months he has filled the pulpit of the Dorchester Congregational Church. He leaves three sons and a widow.

Mr. Hudson was well known for his writings. One of his best known books is "The Heritage of Honor." He was a trustee with ex-President Eliot of Harvard University, Washington. In Brockton he was one of the original members of the Nonpartisan League.

Police Spring One Surprise on Mr. Springer

Isidore Springer was springing Elm street early today. It was not the last of Spring and the last Isadore, too.

But Patrolman H. W. Andrews had a yell of "Stop that!" for Springer and after Springer. Although he of heavy build Andrews had more drag in him than Springer did, Springer was caught in the first 100 yds.

Singing up the rear was Fred Soto. "He picked my pocket of $4.63 Thursday. At the station house Ivas found on Isadore who, the police say, will not be among those present in the Preparedness parade tomorrow.

City Employes to Sing 'Wake Up' Song in Parade

"Wake Up America" will be the theme song of the City Employes, who comprise Division 7 of the parade, as they sang along Boston streets, singing as well as marching for Preparedness tomorrow.

Copies of the song were distributed today at City Hall. At once those who will represent the city in the parade set about learning it. It made a big hit from the start.

Mayor Curley appointed Thomas Riley, clerk in the Street Laying Out Department, to be song leader as ordered that a special chorus of 100 voices, composed entirely of city employes be formed to sing "Take Up America."

QUINCES CANNED IN 1888 STILL GOOD

Tinsted, Conn., May 26.—A can of quinces put up in 1888 by Mrs. Albert Pey of Barkhamsted, was opened by her today when she entertained some friends. The flavor was excellent and the fruit in fine condition.

COLEMAN FREE MAN TODAY

George W. Coleman, the Cambridge bank wrecker, who today was paroled after serving six years of his fifteen-year sentence, started his last day at the jail by milking the cows, just as he has done for months when no hope of release awaited him.

After the parole papers arrived, he was asked his plans.

"My family is coming up by automobile to get me," he said. "I will go home with them, leaving here late this afternoon.

"I'm going home and going to work for my father, and that's all there is to it.

"I want to thank all those folks here at the jail for the way they've treated me. They've surely treated me fine. Not just the same, but I'm glad to get out.

"There's been some talk of my marrying as soon as I get free. But I shall not do so. I am not engaged, have no sort of an understanding with any woman, and so far as anything I know now goes—why I'll never marry.

"There's no use my trying to give any young fellow any advice. Each one has to learn for himself, and way. But I'll say one thing—that I'm going to behave myself strictly from now on. And I'll say one more —that for $3,000,000 I wouldn't go through what I've gone through in the past five and a half years."

The terms of Coleman's parole, which reached him today, provided that he must remain in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts till June 12, 1920.

The papers reached the Greenfield postoffice just after the morning delivery, so that they would not ordinarily have been delivered to the jail till noon or later.

But the penal authorities immediately telephoned the jail that the papers had arrived. They were told that Jailer Charles F. Richardson was down town and would undoubtedly call at the postoffice to get the papers.

Mrs. Walter G. Coleman, mother of George Coleman, was overcome with joy when word of her son's parole was brought to her.

"God alone could measure my joy and happiness.

"Forgive him" Why, that's a silly question to ask a mother about her boy. Who would forgive a boy and give him a fresh clean start in life if his mother wouldn't? He's my boy—my first son.

"George will come back here to the same house he left," and he will find a just welcome as it was then."

It is my intention to keep my boy with me for a while. He will probably go into his father's coal office. Anyway, he will remain here for a time.

"We have other plans, too. George has become greatly interested in the dairy business since he went away. He may possibly buy a farm and we may get a farm somewhere near Boston and enter into that business."

KILL VILLA AIDE IN FIGHT WITH BANDIT GANG

SURPRISE ATTACK.

The engineers were working on road repairs six miles south of Ojitos. With them were a few soldiers acting as an escort. The Mexicans made a surprise attack.

Cervantes has been hunted from village to post the last two weeks. His ranks depleted, his men tired and half starved, they were easy victims for the thug. Army officers say Cervantes must have been in desperate straits to attack the engineers' party. They knew that at the garrison, only six miles away, was a company of the Thirteenth Cavalry, and a machine gun troop of the Seventeenth Infantry. The Mexicans dashed over a small hill and down on the unsuspecting Americans as they worked in a small ravine.

Three Americans dropped at the first volley. The soldiers rallied instantly and returned shot for shot at close range. It is due, perhaps, to the miserable marksmanship of the Mexicans that the little party was not annihilated.

A messenger was dispatched to the garrison for aid. Two companies of cavalry, one from the Thirteenth, under Lieutenant R. T. Merchant of New York, and the other from the Eleventh, in command of Captain Guy Cushman of Newport, R. I., were sent in pursuit.

BAND IS ROUTED.

After pursuing the bandits for several miles they were overtaken as they were making for the shelter of the mountains in the Bacuna country. In the engagement which followed two Mexicans were killed and an unknown number wounded. The rest made good their escape.

The body of Cervantes was positively identified by residents of Las Cruces. General Pershing tonight has ordered the body brought here for more complete examination. One of the Americans wounded was Private Hulitt of the Seventeenth Infantry, who was in charge of the machine gun and who killed both the Mexicans.

The point at which the attack was made was about the last place it could be expected, according to army officers. Opinions as to the number of bandits in the gang vary, but reports say there were between twenty or thirty.

The death of Cervantes will go far towards clearing up the banditry in this section. Cervantes has long been noted as one of the most desperate of the outlaws that for years have made Mexico a chaos of lawlessness. Cervantes was one of Villa's most favored aides and rode with him in the Columbus massacre.

Pearse, in Letter to Mother, Says Rebels Were Right

London, May 26.

PETER PEARSE, schoolmaster, president of the seven-day Irish republic, wrote this letter to his mother the night before he was shot to death in the Dublin barracks, it was learned today:

"This is the death I should ask if God gave me my choice —a soldier's death for Ireland and freedom. We did right. The people who say hard things now, later will praise us. Do not grieve, mother. It is the sacrifice God has asked."

SCHOOLBOYS IN PARADE WIN CHEERS

Reviewed by Governor McCall at the State House and by Mayor Curley at City Hall, 2,000 boys connected with the Boston Latin and English High schools today paraded through the streets of Boston to Boston Common, where the annual inspection was held under the direction of Colonel George H. Benyon, inspector-general of the Massachusetts militia.

The boys looked resplendent in their natty uniforms. Each carried a rifle and tried through the streets in regular army fashion.

The martial airs of the several bands in line and rap-a-tap-tap of the drum corps filled the boys with patriotic ardor. Their fine appearance elicited rounds of applause from thousands of spectators. A crowd of high school girls, mothers and fathers greeted the youngsters as they swung into Boston Common.

The parade started at 9:30 a. m. at Clarendon and Montgomery streets and passed down Clarendon to Columbus avenue, to Park square, to Boylston street, to Tremont, to Brimfield, to Washington, to School, where Mayor Curley and members of the City Council and their families reviewed it, to Beacon, to the State House, where Governor McCall and staff reviewed it, to Charles street, to the Common.

FIVE BOOMS GET UNDER WAY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 26.—There were five presidential tents pitched in "candidates' row" along the G. O. P. front in South Michigan avenue today. Booms were being actively propelled from each by managers of the various candidates. The candidates now have headquarters along the avenue, are:

Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, represented by a large delegation of Hoosiers, headed by James P. Goodrich, Joseph Kealing and former Senator Hemenway. His supporters claim 156 delegates.

Elihu Root of New York, headquarters in charge of John W. Dodd and Charles M. Pepper, claiming 130 pledges.

Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, represented by G. W. Mooney and A. N. Rodway of Cleveland, claiming 110 delegates.

John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, represented by George H. Moses, former minister to Greece, who claims 200 votes for his man.

Only fifty-three contested seats will have to be threshed out and decided by the credentials committee this year, the smallest number in twenty years, according to Secretary James B. Reynolds. Seventy of them are from Georgia.

Carranza Troops Stone Truck Drivers

By International News Service.

Columbus, N. M., May 26.—Carranza soldiers and civilians at Casas Grandes stoned an American truck train in command of Captain Harper, coming north from Chihuahua on Wednesday afternoon, injuring a truck squad foreman and several drivers.

The train arrived here with an account of the attack. Acting on orders of Captain Harper, the Americans fired no retaliatory shots, but put on additional speed and drew away in a shower of stones and clubs.

The men's hurts are painful, but not serious.

The attack is the second to which truck trains operating between here and General Pershing's base have been subjected.

Soldiers accompanying the train as guards declare the situation is fast becoming grave along General Pershing's line of communication. Numerous times they were forced to stop and cut barbed wire which had been placed across the deeply-rutted roads to block their path.

Arriving a few miles north of Namiquipa Wednesday the train was halted to give the drivers a rest. A crowd gathered. In it were civilians and a number of Carranza soldiers in uniform. From some part of the throng came a heavy stone, striking one of the men in the mouth. As if at a signal the mob began hurling stones and anything it could get its hands on, according to the soldiers. Many women joined in the stoning.

GREW'S REPORT ON KAISER MAY SHAPE WILSON'S PEACE PLANS

By International News Service.

Washington, May 26.—The belief that Joseph Grew, secretary of the American Embassy in Berlin, brought a personal message from Emperor William to President Wilson receives support here.

Officials denied that Secretary Grew had brought definite peace proposals from the German front, but the belief persists here that his conference with the President will relate immediately to peace, and that from it will develop President Wilson's plans regarding peace proposals.

Assistant Secretary of State Phillips conferred with the President, and later admitted that he would go to Boston today or tomorrow, returning to Washington with Mr. Grew on Tuesday night.

President Wilson discussed possible peace overtures with callers, informed them the United States would offer its friendly offices to the belligerents in behalf of peace only when persuaded they would be acceptable to all the warring countries and when the terms proposed would be in the interest of all the world rather than of a single country or a group of countries.

WANT WILSON TO ACT.

President Wilson is believed to have decided upon the course he will pursue in seeking to restore peace in Europe, but is determined not to disclose his plans until the time for action, in his opinion, is ripe.

Representative Hensley of Missouri discussed with the President his amendment to the naval appropriation bill, providing for the calling of a disarmament congress by the President after the war. The amendment expressed the hope also that "some steps might be taken looking to the settlement of international disputes by arbitration."

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois introduced a peace resolution which requests the President to suggest to the belligerents mediation by the United States, that a truce be declared and that a commission be appointed to be composed of neutral nations, to arbitrate the differences between the warring countries.

The President of the United States or his representative would serve as referee. The resolution adds:

"That the said commission or arbitration board, after the said propositions have been submitted, shall settle upon such terms as, in all the circumstances, would appear equitable to all parties, leaving to the future the remedying of any omission which might be desired or accepted by any one of the combatants in the general solution presented by the commission."

DEMAND KAISER SURRENDER.

The semi-official outline of peace prospects was obtained from an official close to the Administration.

"There was a broad hint that Germany, which has held its conquests against every assault and refers to the map as a basis for discussing peace, must exhibit a willingness to make large and definite concessions before this government will undertake to impress Entente Powers with the desirability of peace.

The Administration appreciates, according to this authority, that the present military advantage is Germany's, that the chief military triumphs have been Germany's, and that the allies have not yet achieved a single notable victory.

The statement is interpreted to mean that the State Department already has informally sounded out the allies and learned that they will not discuss peace before there has been obtained an absolutely reliable understanding with the Central Empires through some neutral country, preferably the United States, concerning what they consider the fundamental principles in defence of which they profess to have taken up arms.

READY TO AID ALLIES.

The opinion is growing in Washington that Germany is willing to treat for peace on terms that will be acceptable to the allies, and that the allies, if convinced that Germany is sincere and willing to make certain concessions vital to the interests of the entente nations, will consent to discuss proposals.

The semi-official expression, following the utterances of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, in Parliament, and considered in the light of Germany's reference to peace in her note to the United States in settlement of the submarine issue, is taken to mean that the United States is ready to approach the allies whenever this government is convinced that the proposals Germany makes can be submitted to her enemies as a reasonable basis upon which the general armistice might be declared.

The official who discussed the subject said:

Why should the Entente Powers listen to overtures of peace when they have not accomplished one of the purposes for which they resorted to arms?

They can afford to talk peace only when they have triumphed over the Central Empires or when they are convinced that victory over Germany is impossible.

MUST FIRST GET A VICTORY.

They cannot admit even to themselves that victory is impossible, and they cannot, therefore, discuss peace, lest the public should impute to them a doubt of success which they do not share.

LEAGUE TO FIGHT FORD LIBEL SUIT

Detroit, May 26.—The Navy League lost no time in accepting Henry Ford's dare, wired them Wednesday to appear in Federal Court in Washington with books and records of the organization for trial of the $150,000 libel suit, recently brought by the league against the pacifist.

"We will appear at the trial and produce our books and papers. The Navy League desires only judicial settlement of the matter, as early as possible, and upon consideration of all the facts," is the league's answer.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply cannot get feeling right, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

Sick skins made well by Resinol

No matter how long you have been tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, raw or scaly skin humors, just put a little of that soothing Resinol Ointment on the sores and see if the suffering does not stop right there! Healing usually begins the very minute, and the skin gets well quickly and easily, unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. For trial free write to Dept. 19-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years. Cadum Ointment is good for eczema, pimples, blotches, itch, tetter, scaly skin, eruptions, chafings, rash, scabs, ringworm, cuts, burns, etc. 25c.

TAFT ROARS WHEN ASKED ABOUT T. R.

Washington, May 26.—Former President William H. Taft was a caller at the Secretary of War's office today. Mr. Taft, who is head of the American Red Cross, wanted to discuss the distribution of medical officers as provided for in the new army bill.

The former President was in a very happy frame of mind. Some one ventured to ask him if the report was true that he would support Colonel Roosevelt if the latter is nominated by the Republicans. Mr. Taft roared with laughter. "How can you expect me to answer that question," he asked.

20,000 Delegates Attend Great Convention of the Country's Womens' Clubs

By International News Service.

New York, May 26.—Belated arrivals today of delegates and alternates to the Thirteenth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs brought the attendance up to more than 20,000.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker of Texas, the retiring president, in her report advocated that the federation be made international in scope so as to take in European clubs.

"Home making" was the chief subject under discussion. One of the speakers, Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, spoke on "Home Making As a Fine Art."

Other speakers were W. Dudley Foulke, former president of the National Municipal league, and Secretary of Agriculture Houston.

During the afternoon and evening receptions were given to delegations from the various states.

It was said that at no previous convention has such broad, inclusive treatment been given to the work of the home economics department of the Federation.

After the main business session Mrs. William Todd Helmuth was introduced as the presiding officer.

Woman suffrage is getting little attention in the convention despite the efforts of one faction to introduce it. A great suffrage rally has been arranged for Sunday night in Carnegie Hall, to which all the delegates have been invited. Among those who have taken boxes for the meeting are Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, Mrs. Charles L. Scribner, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, Mrs. Henry Villard, Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse and Mrs. Howard Mansfield.

ARREST MAN AS PARCEL POST LOOTER

Thomas F. A. Casey, twenty-five, of Malden street, South End, a foreman of a gas fitting gang employed at the South Station by the Boston Terminal Company, was arrested today by Postoffice Inspectors Nelson and Rhind on the charge of stealing parcel post matter from the mails. Casey is alleged to have had in his possession a box, containing a suit of clothes, addressed to Frederick T. Parks of Devon road, Newton Centre.

Casey accompanied the officers to his room, where it is alleged several other parcels containing clothing and shoes were found.

Casey was brought before United States Commissioner Hayes and held in $500 for the Federal Grand Jury.

DR. WAITE, CROSS-EXAMINED, SAYS HE'S PREPARED TO DIE

sanity while at Bellevue Hospital, never conspired in the Tombs to prepare a false defense of insanity, denied that he had told District Attorney Swann or Mr. Brothers that "The man from Egypt" had told him to kill Peck; admitted that he had asked Mrs. Horton if she had heard of "The man from Egypt."

"Are you crazy?" asked Brothers suddenly.

"I think not."

Waite added that he was prepared to meet the penalty of his crime. He said that he slept soundly after taking Peck's life.

"You wanted to kill yourself, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you kill yourself?"

"Well, I made a pretty good attempt, didn't I?"

"You have told this story because you were told that if you could make yourself a bad enough animal there would be at least one juror who would believe that you were crazy and would save your life, is that it?"

"No."

"But you hope to save your life, don't you?"

"No."

"PREPARED TO DIE."

"Do you mean to say that you don't care what becomes of you, that you are prepared to die in the electric chair?"

"I am prepared to die."

Waite denied that while he was in District Attorney Swann to be lenient with him and that it would do no good to prosecute him.

Justice Shearn then took a hand in the questioning, and with a few direct questions speedily established that Waite himself believed he knew the nature and quality of his act.

To prove legal insanity it must be shown that Waite did not know the nature and quality of his act at the time it was committed.

This ended Waite's cross examination.

Miss Catherine Peck, the wealthy sister of the murdered man, was next called by the defence.

AFFECTION FOR WAITE.

Miss Peck admitted that she had a great affection for Waite and believed he was fond of her. She told of giving Waite charge of certain business matters for her.

The defence did not bring out the fact that Waite had also stolen money and jewelry from Miss Peck, the prosecution admitting the stealing.

Dr. Minas S. Gregory, psychopathic expert of Bellevue, told of Waite's condition when he was brought to the prison ward at the hospital. He said he was suffering from poison, but seemed able at all times to answer questions and appeared to comprehend what was said to him.

Naval Officer Dies Grasping Two Live Wires

By International News Service.

Sag Harbor, L. I., May 26.—Lieutenant Clarence Alvin Richards, U.S.N., was electrocuted today at the sub-station of the Sag Haber Light & Power Company. According to the watchman, Harry D. Christian, the naval officer deliberately grasped two live wires.

Lieutenant Richards was in command of the U.S.S. Fanning, which had been participating in fleet manoeuvers in Gardiner's Bay. The Fanning had left for Newport shortly before the officer met his death.

According to Christian the lieutenant was stopped at the door of the power plant, but disregarded a warning that he should see the superintendent before entering. He then picked up two wires connecting with a transformer and the full force of the current went through his body.

TAFT DEFENDS LEAGUE FOR PEACE

By International News Service.

Washington, May 26.—In a lengthy address replete with legal citations and statements of precedents, former President Taft today defended the plan for the establishment of a permanent court to decide all "justiciable" questions arising between nations as favored by the League to Enforce Peace. As president of the league, he opened the scientific discussion over the annual meeting of the organization. The convention will come to a climax tomorrow night when President Wilson will address it.

Mr. Taft explained that he had been obliged to reply to the constitutional objection raised against the first and third planks in the platform of the league. The first provides for the establishment of a permanent court by the military and naval forces of the signatories.

Mr. Taft cited precedents which, he explained, showed the authority of the President and Senate to enter into arbitration treaties along the lines suggested by the league.

Taking up the objections to the plank permitting the use of the military and naval forces of the signatory nations to enforce the decrees, which it is claimed violates the Constitution by taking away from Congress the power to declare war, Mr. Taft took sharp issue with William Jennings Bryan. The latter recently declared to the Lake Mohonk conference that the plank violated the Constitution. In this connection Mr. Taft said: "I venture to think that this view is wholly without foundation."

BERLE ATTACKS THE 'MUNITIONS TRUST'

"The broadcloth State street gang are opposing the peace propaganda and identifying themselves with this 'Preparedness parade,' declared the Rev. Dr. A. A. Berle in discussing international peace today before the forty-ninth annual meeting of the Free Religious Association in Lorimer Hall.

Strips of "No, No," met the speaker when he said:

"England is throttling the personal liberty of the pacifists in that country. Everyone knows that there is a big munition trust throughout the world and they are playing the fiddle and bring the common people dance to their tunes.

"The munition trust makes us feel that we are just where the abolitionists were before the Civil War. We believe in peace, but the churches are muzzled. The other day the pastor of a church in Buffalo was told not to preach any more sermons about peace. A munition maker was giving a large amount of money to the support of the church. That minister had to stop preaching peace sermons.

"This Preparedness parade which will be held in Boston tomorrow is another evidence of the influence by which these munition magnates have blinded the eyes of the people."

LADDERMAN IS HURT BY FALL AT BLAZE

Moses J. Kinsella of Ladder 3, while overhauling debris, following a fire in a five-story brick building at No. 854 Washington street, South End, early today, fell down a flight of stairs, receiving a badly sprained back, cuts and bruises.

Kinsella and a couple of his companions were at work on the second floor of the building. In the darkness Kinsella backed through the doorway and fell down the stairs. He was removed to the City Hospital, where examinations showed that his injuries were not serious.

The fire, which was of unknown origin, started in the basement under the furniture store occupied by S. Taier. It had attained considerable headway when discovered and burned up through the floor to the first floor of the building, damaging much heavy furniture there.

The police estimate the damage at $5,000. The building is owned by Frank Ferdinand.

BILLY SUNDAY'S AGENT LIKES BOSTON MEN

That Boston business men interested in the Billy Sunday Evangelistic Campaign are the finest type of men seen in this work is the compliment paid by the Rev. James E. Walker, advance agent for Billy Sunday, who has arrived from Kansas City.

Mr. Walker is much pleased over the progress being made in Boston by the committees. He said:

The men who are engaged in this work of preparation have impressed me greatly. There are many little items in the matter of preparation which will come up now and again and I have come here to throw light upon them and aid the committee any way in my power. I shall be here nearly four weeks.

When asked if he feared the onslaught of Unitarian tracts which the women of the Alliance of Christian Women at their meeting in the South Congregational Church, under the auspices of the American Unitarian Association, will launch against Billy Sunday in the Fall when he begins in Boston, he replied:

We have nothing to fear from tracts. Unitarians have done little or nothing in Kansas City, though Mrs. Davis at the meeting spoke of this work being done in that city.

We are not coming to Boston to oppose anything except the forces of evil. That's what this campaign means. It is to turn men and women Godward. No tract of any kind can stop this when this work begins.

Everything is hopeful in Boston. While it takes much care in detail to get matters in proper working shape, we are satisfied that all things are working satisfactorily.

Rev. Charles E. Page of the Page Class of the Dudley Street Baptist Church will have a Billy Sunday rally at noon in that church when Albert Saunders of Scranton, Pa., one of the Sunday converts from that city, will tell of his experiences in unbelief for twenty-one years and how Billy Sunday made a man out of him. Other speakers will take part in the meeting.

The Careful Housewife's Food Standby

The housewife who appreciates the food importance of pure and wholesome bread and who desires to serve the members of her household with the most dependable kind, buys

WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD

or she buys that other WARD kind, which is also a favorite among discriminating people—DAINTY-MAID BREAD.

At the morning, noon and evening meals, they are a food standby which adult members of the family can relish and enjoy and which children may eat with real benefit to their growing bodies.

Either of these high grade WARD loaves, TIP-TOP or DAINTY-MAID, make delicious toast, crisp, palatable and most appetizing. For sandwiches they are especially fine, because the firm, close-grained texture of every slice enables you to cut and butter to perfection.

Added to these superior eating qualities is the admitted cleanliness and recognized purity of TIP-TOP and DAINTY-MAID BREAD and the fact that they are made in a model and sanitary bakery by the most advanced and scientific methods known to the baking industry.

TELLS THE STORY REGARDING WIFE

H. M. Crawford of 37 Clifton St. Says His Wife Took Plant Juice.

That the stomach is responsible for 90 per cent. of all the diseases to which the human system is heir is generally conceded by the medical profession. When we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of liver, kidney and bladder disorders, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will correct its harmful influence. Plant Juice is proving that it is truly a specific for all cases of stomach trouble. It exercises the greatest restorative effect in the liver, kidneys and with rheumatism.

H. M. CRAWFORD.

That this is the logical effect of Plant Juice is attested by testimonials of well-known Boston people who have regained their health by the use of this preparation. For instance, Mr. H. M. Crawford, who resides at No. 37 Clifton street, and who has lived in Boston for 30 years, gave the following. Mr. Crawford is a well-known manufacturer and chemist flooring expert. He stated:

"My wife had suffered for ten years with stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia and torpid liver. She had tried all kinds of medicines, but they did not seem to relieve her. She was so bad that she could not eat any solid food, and if she did she suffered severe pains in her stomach afterwards. She had severe headaches and dizzy spells. She could not sleep nights, was very restless and nervous. When she arose in the morning she was as tired as she was on retiring the night before. I finally persuaded her to try Plant Juice, and I can truthfully say for publication that she had only been taking the remedy eight days when all her pains disappeared and she could digest her food. She found relief after the second dose. I have also taken Plant Juice and can certainly recommend it to everyone, that it is all that you claim for it."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

Blame Scarcity of Calves and Goats for Shoe Prices

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, May 26.—If milady's skirt might be short and not long, the cost of the shoes must rise in due ratio. This was the conclusion of the leading manufacturers of shoes in conference here, who also laid the blame for present prices of footwear to the scarcity of calves and goats and inability to get skins from Russia because of the war.

Suggestions that congress make open foreign nations allowing more soft supplies to be shipped here to meet the demand for shoes made of products, principally shoes, if Congress fails to take action.

DONATIONS TO CREDIT FUND COME FAST

Nathan Sallinger, general campaign manager of the $50,000 fund that is being raised by the Massachusetts Credit Union, gave the captains and team-workers a heart-to-heart talk on salesmanship early today as the men started out for the fourth day's work of the fight that is being waged.

The talk fairly bristled with enthusiasm and every one of the 200 workers started out with fight and courage enough to establish new records in securing figures before the close of the day.

More figures were given out at campaign headquarters today, showing that pledges have been received for $1,850, this amount being in addition to the amounts pledged at the banquet the night before.

When the roll was called today a large number of new workers were found in the ranks. Many of these newcomers are members of the various Young Men's Hebrew Associations. These organizations have come out strong for the fight and start at their work with a vim that showed the veterans they would have to keep moving to retain their honors.

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were weak in New York by noon, declines exceeding gains by about two to one. Offerings were large in the second hour, but the market was quite stubborn under pressure. Large interests were said to be buying upon declines.

Sellings at 12 o'clock included Anaconda ⅝, China ¼, Utah Copper ⅛, American Zinc 2, Butte & Superior 1, American Smelting ex-dividend 1⅛, American Can ½, Car & Foundry ¼, American Locomotive ¼, Baldwin ¼, Colorado Fuel ⅝, Crucible ⅛, Marine Preferred ½, Maxwell ¼, Studebaker 1¼, Westinghouse ½, Tennessee Copper 1⅛, Great Northern Ore ⅝, Anaconda Pacific ⅛, N. Y. Central ⅛, Missouri Pacific ¼, Northern Pacific ⅛, Southern Pacific ⅛, Pennsylvania ⅛, St. Paul ⅛, Reading ¼ and Union Pacific ⅛.

Among sales were Beet Sugar ⅜, Atchison ⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio ⅛, Lehigh Valley ⅛, Erie ⅛, New Haven ⅛, Wabash ⅛, Distillers ⅛, Central Leather ⅛, Industrial Alcohol ⅛, Westinghouse ¼, Mexican Petroleum 1⅛, Lackawanna ⅛, Steel ⅛, Chandler ⅛, Continental Can ⅛, Goodrich 1⅛ and U. S. Rubber ⅛.

U. S. Steel was unchanged.

Among the stocks characterized the Boston market where declines included Ahmeek 1, Allouez ⅛, American Zinc ⅛, Butte & Superior ½, Gulf Preferred ½, Copper Range ⅛, Isle Royale ½, Lake ⅛, Mohawk 1, North Butte ⅛, U. S. Smelting ¼, Trinity ⅛, Haven ½ and United Shoe ¼.

Among gains were Gulf common ⅛, Boston Elevated ⅛ and Old Dominion ⅛.

Price irregularity prevailed in New York at the opening with fluctuations small and the market lacking in breadth. It was also comparatively quiet. While there was demand for a number of specialties at the start offerings were sufficient to cause a recessional tendency within a few minutes. But while the chief of these was weak none was strong. Business was below the professional crowd. Outside participation was negligible.

Reading made a good gain at once and then receded from the highest. There was not much trading in copper. They were not affected by the slump in metal prices in London. War industrials were the most active class. There was no change in market conditions over night. Traders are now waiting for the presidential campaign to shape itself. Labor unrest is having an unsettling influence as well. The rumors are of a disquieting character. At the end of the first hour the list was still moved as to gains and losses. Among issues were Goodrich, Reading and U. S. Rubber. Studebaker was off more than a point and had been weak from the beginning.

The Boston market was also irregular at the start and as quiet as it usually is in the beginning. The most active issues here in early trading were limited to each Copper Range. Fluctuations were fractional, only in the case of leading issues, and at the end of the first hour, Butte & Superior was off 1 and American Zinc more than 1 point. Isle Royale Copper had declined a point. So had Lake. The silver rate is 49 5-8.

Copper prices continued to break in London and metal was freely offered by second hands in that market. Trading on today spot copper declined 18, futures 15 and electrolytic 22. Spot tin was up 10s., futures 5s. and Straits 6. Spot lead was 2s. 6d. lower, with futures unchanged. Spot spelter and futures were off 15.

VERMONT PICKS EIGHT HUGHES DELEGATES

Montpelier, Vt., May 26.—The Republican state convention opened today with strong indications that no candidate can figure with any show of success who is not a through and through Hughes man.

Delegates and party leaders, besides being interested in the selection of eight Hughes delegates to Chicago, were preparing also for the September primaries when voters will be called on to express preferences for a successor to Carrol S. Page as Senator.

So far as appears on the surface there is no contest over seven of the Vermont delegation to Chicago. On the west side of the state there seems to be no opposition to John T. Cushing of St. Albans, Guy W. Bailey of Essex Junction, E. R. Morse of Rutland and Collins M. Graves of Bennington.

On the east side former Governor George H. Prouty of Newport, Theodore N. Vail of Lyndon and Fred H. Babbitt of Rockingham have a walkover, but H. J. M. Jones of Montpelier and George E. Moody of Waterbury must fight it out.

Mr. Moody has been state senator and town representative, and Mr. Jones is a prominent business man who has been on the school board for many years and is thoroughly identified with the educational and industrial development of the state. The party custom of sending unpledged delegations to national conventions will be followed this year. The platform as drawn favors preparedness, complete enough to attract the Progressives and a packing-up of the tariff in a way to give American industry a fair deal.

Moose Attention!

All members of the Loyal Order of Moose are invited to march with the Boston Lodge in the Preparedness Parade, Saturday, May 27. Report at the corner of Fairfield and Newbury Streets, at 2 P. M. sharp.

CHARLES F. SEFTON, Dictator.

Motor Notes.

B. J. C. KERRISON.

Final arrangements for the parade of the motor division of tomorrow's big demonstration were made at a committee meeting held at the salesroom of the Boston Buick Company yesterday afternoon.

From the reports and information in the hands of the committee there is every reason to believe that the parade of the motor industries will be the largest and most complete ever enjoyed in Boston. All of the dealers will be represented in the parade.

No effort will be made to retain individual units. Instead, the industry will parade in one organization without any subdivisions and without drawing a line as to firms or cars represented. Industry for the first time in the history of the industry will be entirely eliminated.

It is, of course, interesting to anticipate that several companies will want to parade and will parade as organizations, but they will display no distinctive badges or banners or signs.

Chief Marshal Hinchcliffe has got his forces well in hand, and with the help of his aids, chief of whom is J. H. Johnson, will be ready to move at the point of time.

Arrangements are being made by the Harvard regiment to combine with its appearance in the Preparedness parade Saturday a practical demonstration of the possibilities of rapid mobilization by motor car. The regiment will assemble at noon at Smith Halls of the freshman dormitory group on Boylston street and the River Parkway, near the Anderson Bridge.

Wear RICE & HUTCHINS EDUCATOR SHOE

They Need No Breaking In!

Read What Hannaford Says About Them:

"I learned I must have a comfortable well-made shoe—tried almost every kind—failed to find one until I tried Educator Shoes. I bought a pair, put them on, and was astonished to find there was no such thing as breaking them in—they were as comfortable the first half hour as they were after several days' wear."

Signed A. F. HANNAFORD.

739 Washington St., Boston.

Mr. A. F. Hannaford, who pays this tribute to Educator Shoes, accomplished the remarkable performance of walking from Boston to Winthrop by a route covering one hundred miles in twenty-two hours, forty minutes. On this walk Mr. Hannaford started with new Educator Shoes, having in reserve an extra pair which he expected to use but found the first pair so comfortable that it was unnecessary to change.

Educator Shoes made to conform with nature's plan of the foot are endorsed by orthopedic authorities—they are made for men, women and children.

PANIC ON CAR HANGING OVER THE RIVER

More than 100 persons, many of them women, were thrown into a panic early today when a Brighton open car left the tracks on the Western avenue bridge, shot across on a tangent and, crashing through the rail, hung suspended over the river.

The noise of rending timbers mingled with the shrieks and cries of the men and women who fought to get out of the car.

Hysterical women were jostled and trampled on and many fainted. Calls were sent in for the police, who removed a number of the women in their homes in ambulances.

Mrs. Edith Jannifer, twenty-seven years old, of No. 147 Harvard street, was the most seriously injured. She was taken to the home of her mother, No. 24 Upton street, suffering from bruises and shock.

The car was bound for Boston, jammed with people going to work, and was in charge of Motorman Robert L. Jackson and Conductor Robert Smith. Jackson clung to his brakes and brought the electric to a stop when the forward end was protruding about six feet from the bridge.

BOSTONIANS ARE REMEMBERED IN WILL

For kindness shown him in his hour of need, Michael J. Ahearn, known as the "Mayor of Montclair," a suburb of Denver, who died there recently and left a fortune, has remembered five Bostonians in his will. The Bostonians are: Mrs. Annie L. Chase and Mrs. Mary Devine, both of South Boston, sister and daughter of Ahern's former employer, who are to receive $200 and $1,000, respectively; Daniel J. Callahan, who is to get $2,000; Daniel E. Ford, $500, and Timothy Ahearn, $500.

BROOKLINE GIRL COMES BACK HOME

Miss Mabel Hillsmith of No. 1819 Beacon street, Brookline, who with Miss Jennie Hall of No. 91 Centre street, that town, had been mysteriously missing, returned to her home early today.

The Brookline police, who were searching for the young women, were informed by Mrs. Amelia Turner, with whom Miss Hillsmith made her home, that she had been visiting a cemetery where the body of a relative is buried.

THEATRE PATRONS MAY CROSS ROUTE

After a conference with President Rich of the Boston Theatre Managers' Association, Superintendent of Police Crowley has issued instructions to the police to allow theatre patrons to cross the line of march in either direction in Washington and Tremont streets during halts in the parade. The route of the parade crosses Washington street at Knowland, and Tremont street at Eliot, leaving the Hollis Street, Castle Square and Wilbur Theatres outside, and the Colonial and Majestic within the cordon of marchers.

PRESBYTERIANS IN APPEAL FOR JEWS

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—The Presbyterian General Assembly today adopted resolutions advocating an international conference to give permanent relief to the suffering Jews in Russia. It was decided to petition President Wilson to intercede with foreign powers to this end. The Assembly refused to endorse an overture making Good Friday a day of special observances. The Assembly selected Dallas, Texas, for its 1917 meeting.

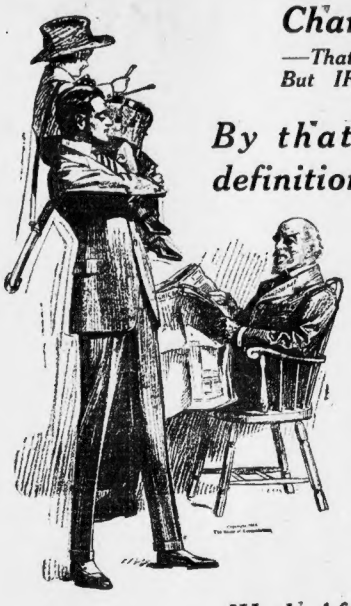
Charles A. Dana Told His Reporters on the "Sun"
—That it wasn't news when a dog bit a man. That was an everyday occurrence. But IF A MAN SHOULD BITE A DOG—that would be news indeed.



By that definition

Here Is News Indeed

For while you can always read about goods that are offered "at a price," our story is about Fine Clothing—the cream of the country's output—merchandise that's built up to the mark instead of down to the market. Such a story is rare enough to be classed as real news—welcome news to that vast majority of men who want really Good Clothes and know that "less than regular" in price means less than regular in quality.

It takes time and money to produce good fabrics—more time and more money to fashion those fabrics into high-grade garments. Such garments are scarce indeed nowadays and not to be obtained by anybody, anywhere, at a penny less than they are actually worth.

You need only part of the fingers on one hand to count the Boston stores that deal exclusively in strictly high-class clothing. And among that few this Live Store stands forth most prominent because of its larger stocks, wider varieties and greater value-giving.

Week After Week We Continue to Tell the Story of

Kuppenheimer Clothes at $18, $20 up to $35

Not in competition with the daily diet of so-called bargains; but for the benefit of those who recognize and appreciate and want fine merchandise, and who are ever ready to pay the market price for assured High Quality, yet rightfully object to paying the premium which every smaller, high-rent, charge-account store is obliged to demand. Kuppenheimer Clothes have no superiors. Their equals are few and invariably higher priced.

Otherwise known as "pinch-back," is a semi-Norfolk style that's in great favor this season. We show an immense variety—some 2-piece and some with vests—including every fabric and pattern that's suitable for summer wear.

Braves Battle Giants Fight for Third Place

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

There has been a steady improvement in the work of the Champions since the Browns got out of town. They captured the last game in that series and then cleaned up in three straight from the Tigers which was moving as fast as anyone could expect a team to go. They have taken a new lease of life, and their pitchers appear to be coming back to form.

Foster and Shore were decidedly effective, while Leonard is looked upon as sure. Ruth was saved of many hits, and the team, no one knows how many runs, by the brilliant fielding of Hooper, but in the defensive work of the team generally there is found the added strength that should give the team a good record in the series with the Highlanders which opens today at the Polo Grounds with a double-header.

The Champions remain away until the morning of the holiday, when they return for a whirl at the Washington team. Meanwhile the Braves are with us and have their work cut out for them. The Giants, fresh from a great tour of the West, on which they made a record of thirteen straight wins, are the men the Miracle Men will face. McGraw has his team in shape and fighting for every point.

SOME PITCHING.

Any team that can travel and make that kind of a record has something on about every team in the league at this time at least. Thirteen games in the same territory that the Braves have been traveling and with nothing like a run of victories makes it appear as if the pitching staff of the Giants had been discovered and that the games will test the entire strength of the Boston twirlers to stop them. The game today is the first and there are two tomorrow.

Neither team played yesterday, being on the road back from the West for their Eastern series. The Braves have not made a proud record on the road. The dispatches have indicated that the boys fancy they have had the worst of it at the hands of the umps. The fans of Boston will have a chance to see for themselves, for when the Champions get through their series with the Senators they move West and the Braves have their home stay.

Nothing could be better than the standing so far as an attraction is concerned. The Boston and New York teams are even in percentage, and they will have to fight it out to see which will retain the upper hand which will mean so much to them in point of drawing quality when they open their long home series.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia meanwhile refuse to crack to please the rooters, and they are apt to make it teeny for the Western clubs as they appear at Ebbets Field and in Philadelphia. The race in the National League is a good one, and there is a chance for at least four clubs to win. That is any one of four clubs at the present time look able to go through to a finish with success. The season is young and the race is a hot one. In another month there will be a different picture in both leagues.

Manager Carrigan took the following players over to New York to play the Highlander aces: Pitchers, Leonard, Pennock, Ruth, Gregg, Mays and Jones; catchers, Carrigan, Thomas and Agnew; infielders, Hoblitzel, Barry, Janvrin, Gardner and McNally; outfielders, Hooper, Lewis, Walker and Henriksen.

BAD BREAK FOR INDIANS.

Philadelphia, May 26.—The Cleveland Americans were leading the Athletics, 5-1, when a thunder storm stopped the game at the end of the fourth inning. Coveleski was pitching for Cleveland, while Sheehan, who had relieved Wyckoff, was twirling for the locals.

BOULTES DRAWS RELEASE

Bridgeport, Ct., May 26.—Former Manager Jake Boultes and Pitcher Doherty have been released by the Bridgeport (Eastern League).

Leon Didier Here for Special at Beach Track

With Victor Linart, the world's champion, disposed of in his first try, George Wiley, the diminutive Syracuse rider, goes after new game at the Revere Cycle Track tomorrow night, when he tackles Leon Didier, the speedy Frenchman, and "Bobby" Walthour, the Atlanta, Ga., veteran, in a 25-mile motor-paced race.

In Wednesday night's contest a puncture ruined Walthour's chances when it appeared as if he had a good chance to catch Wiley. For this reason he is given another chance by Manager Butler.

Drivers Ready to Start in Big Auto Race

Indianapolis, May 26.—Drivers practicing for the May 30th 500-mile race on the speedway are happy at last because it has turned hot. Strange as it may seem, while others were enjoying the cool days the daredevils of the brick oval were impatient for genuine hot Summer. This is because they can not get an accurate gauge of what their cars can do except under hot conditions, which sweat the tires faster than cool days. The majority of the drivers are now on the Indianapolis track practicing, getting ready for the elimination trials, and according to the advance dope every one of them will be able to qualify with eight miles an hour for two and one-half miles.

Dario Resta is the bookmakers' favorite, the only driver slated at even money. He was second last year to DePalma, but somehow there is a feeling that Resta will not win this year, despite the bookmakers' theory and there has been many thousand dollar bets and some five thousand dollar bets. Josef Christiaens, the British war aviator, with his Sunbeam ranks second; with Eddie Rickenbacher, in his Maxwell third; and Johnny Aitken in his Peugeot fourth.

The mystery car from Cleveland, the RiChard, with Delno, of Fresno, Cal. driving, is a 100 to 1 shot. Two years ago an unknown car, making its debut at the Indianapolis race, surprised every one by finishing in sixth place. This was the Beaver Bullet, and it is said the RiChard has a much better chance than the Beaver had.

The following drivers in practice have circled the 2½ mile course in 1:45 or better: Jules Devigne, in a Delage; Johnny Aitken, in his Peugeot; Barney Oldfield, in a Delage; Josef Christiaens, in a Sunbeam; Eddie Rickenbacher, in his Maxwell; Charlie Merz, in a Peugeot; LeCain, in a Delage and Resta, in his Peugeot.

BANTAMS MIX AT C. A. C.

"Mickey" Brown and Johnny Solsberg in Tip-Top Trim for Their Muss—Prelims Smack Classy.

"Mickey" Brown of Malden, who can fairly be labeled New England's bantamweight champion, now that Al Shubert, the noted New Bedford battler, is mingling with the featherweights, goes on with Johnny Solsberg of Brooklyn, a bright star among the 116-pounders, in the main event at the Commercial A. C. tonight.

There's no discounting Solsberg's class. That he owns the punch he has proven time and time again; in fact, he floored Brown twice when they clashed in a Brooklyn ring April 28, 1913.

Solsberg has met all the stars of his division. He has stepped ten rounds twice with "Kid" Williams, and hid it out with Pal Moore, Frankie Brown, "Dutch" Brandt, Louisians and a host of other fast travelers, including Johnny Coulon of Chicago, the premier before relieved of his crown by Williams.

The Brown-Solsberg match should be replete with action. The talent has installed the Maldenite a 5-4 favorite, and, if there's any real damage occurring, the unexpected must happen with a vehement vengeance for Solsberg not to administer it.

Jack Sheehan will run the bantamweight mugs. The two kids will step the usual twelve-round route.

Carlo Armstrong makes his bow as a pro. in the semi-final event, at eight rounds. His foe will be Jim McDonald, and there should be lots doing. "Bill" Casey, another former high flyer among the amateurs, is down to meet one Camp, while the curtain-raiser will be pulled by "Kid" French and Johnny Emery.

Trials Today in Meet Athletes Await Word

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

What is unquestionably the greatest gathering of college athletes ever assembled for a track and field meeting is today champing for the coming of the moment when the first event in the Intercollegiate games are scheduled to start. For the forty-first annual tournament of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America the greatest number of names on record has been put up.

There is no question but a majority of those named will fail to start, but, withall, the fields should be the biggest and the competition the best in the history of the meet. From time to time predictions have been freely made but never a person will fail (they may and, then again, they may not, as chances are that if conditions are ideal records will be at least equaled.

Our Harvard crew has a top-heavy favorite to win the event and, considering the available information from every possible angle, it seems a safe choice at 8 to 5. Moakley will not be there, however, but Leland Stanford will. It will force the Crimson boys to the utmost limit to win, and Jim Rafferty, a little fellow to be sure, but a mile runner of unusual ability, should be able to make Harvard extend herself to the limit to win. Rafferty has been a consistent performer all season and, under present conditions, it cannot be said which way he is figure.

Cornell should win the two-mile race, as well as the pole vault. Aside from these two events it is exceeding difficult to figure the lifelong very high in the first place column. Its winning total will come through the medium of seconds, thirds, fourths and fifths

Those places should be numerous, as Moakley has more than one man entered in almost every event and each man placed in second or third is good enough for five in the point total column.

Though many have figured Overton of Yale will win the mile it would appear as if Wilson of Leland Stanford has the edge in the event. In addition, the Californians look good in the hurdles, hammer throw and shot put. Should they score first places in those four events, twenty points would come their way for certain and enough additional points to assure them the win, or at least a position exceedingly close to the win.

Yale figures as a result of Overton's running, perhaps, should be full in both the 1 and 2 mile and the sprints and hurdles to the second. Then Farwell must be figured in the hurdles; Otis in the broad and high jumps, Hampton in the broad jump and Buck and Nason in the pole vault.

WILSON BEST IN MILE.

If I may presume to make charges of Johnny Mack and sp

As I have pointed before that week Tex Merrill should win both the quarter and half mile events and to each should come close to the existing records. Merrill is at present traveling at his best and in each of the two he will be hot class. In an intercollegiate record, he will have reason to be equal to if not better of, to get it down considerably. The quarter mile Wesmore Williams of Harvard seems most likely to be the man to take the honor with Merrill of Cornell and Bill Bingham the Crimson entry, look to be the men to make the most useful Ted Meredith himself. It seems as Meredith records set a world of mile record he can hardly be expected to come made to that mark, but with proper racing behind him he can come outside it. At present he is a joint holder of the quarter-mile mark, at 48 seconds, and it would seem as though that mark were at his mercy.

The dashes, 100 and 220-yards, could furnish some fireworks, petition with Ex. Tesch of the Harvard flyer; Smith of Michigan and possibly Charley Rice of Maine the men to make the going. A new intercollegiate and possibly a new world's record is anticipated in the century. All three stars have separately run the 100 in 9 and appear capable of tieing or beating that time.

Meredith, in the opinion of expert for the Hub papers, has figured in the meet for Cornell and Cornell and will win. He tossing up other pickers as a safe bet make Widmayer of Yale, Murray of Stanford in the event of Yale. He figures to win the half-mile and runs him second to himself with Woodside of Cornell and Bingham fourth.

MUST FIGURE STANFORD.

In the middle and distance and in the weights for Leland Stanford points while he does not place more in the m he must be figured among Thus Stanford is a formidable point to reckon with. Its allows for Merrill of Cornell and Yale a contender figure in the 220 athletes to gather but nine points. Through the absence of Smith, Ted figures Michigan will gather ten points. Harvard is second third, with Cornell fourth.

It would appear as though Ted had slipped up in his choices for one or two of the events. Yale certainly figures better than he has rated the Blue and it hardly seems possible that Cornell will gather as many points as Ted plants.

Leland Stanford is rated fairly close and it would not be at all surprising if the winner of the meet be tallied but few points in excess of the twenty-six points with Meredith figures for the California

While preliminaries are more often than not completed, sport, the handsome and wonderful meet with a fine list of athletes competing and it appears more likely than not that several records will at least be equaled and possibly broken. Despite the Preparedness Parade the preliminaries are a tremendous gathering will witness the different events. Today a good sized crowd will take in the trials.

Tonight at the Hotel Lenox the Cornell Alumni will hold a "smoker" to which the members of the track team have been invited as well as all Cornell Alumni in Boston. This is an annual event and each occasion seems better than that which preceded it.

MORAN WILL BOX BLOOM.

New York, May 26.—Joe Moran, the Southern star will make an attempt to put the rollers under Phil Bloom the Brooklyn lightweight, at the National Sporting Club tonight.

JOHN L. TO HANDLE TEXAN

Kirkpatrick, Harvard's Champion Heavyweight Boxer May Accept Chance to Meet Frank Moran

Oran G. Kirkpatrick Harvard's heavyweight boxing champion, is considering an offer from the only original John L. Sullivan to turn professional, though right now with the ex-champion mourning the loss of his wife the plan has come to a halt.

Sullivan watched Kirkpatrick perform in the Harvard boxing championships last Winter, and after the bouts told the AMERICAN the young Texas giant was a wonderful specimen of manhood and could be developed into a mighty fine fighter.

Sullivan evidently is recommending Kirkpatrick as a mastery, fighting when he stopped Bigelow, the football player in less than a round for each of his two bouts with the Harvard and invited him to visit him on his farm at West Abington.

Kirkpatrick accompanied by his trainer, Hiram Allen, who rubbed Harvard's men down, looking, and made the trip Wednesday, and found the former champion in the best

The boys were entertained by John L. for some three hours, during which he proposed that Kirkpatrick place himself under his direction and train with capable boxers and handlers, including Allen, for four months, when he thought the Texan could learn enough to defeat Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh Fighter, who lost to Jess Willard in ten rounds in New York a few months ago.

If Kirkpatrick shows up as well in this bout as he did in the bout with John L. he will be ready in a year or two for a match between the Harvard man and Jess Willard for the world's championship.

Sullivan figures that the Texan, with his weight, reach and speed, and Kirkpatrick will be a real contender for the world's championship honors in a few years. His intention is to adopt the stage as he has an excellent singing voice as a good vocalist and fine pianist.

Kirkpatrick is more than six feet tall and his fighting weight is 200 pounds. He is fast, clever with both hands and can hit like a sledge-hammer.

Maine Athletes Cannot Compete

THE University of Maine athletes will not be permitted to compete in the Intercollegiates. This was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the "Pine" at the Copley-Plaza (New) last night.

The Maine entries were not received on or before May 5, the day appointed, and the Maine track authorities neglected to avail themselves of their right to call a special meeting of the whole association, asking three days' notice, at which meeting the omission might have been explained in such a satisfactory manner that the entries could have been accepted.

The executive committee had no authority to suspend the by-laws

G. O. P. IS URGED TO SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

By International News Service.

New York, May 26.—The Roosevelt Republican committee has sent an appeal to every delegate to the Chicago convention to support Colonel Roosevelt for the Presidency.

Chairman George von L. Meyer, in explaining why the appeal was made, said:

The work of our committee has been to bring home to each Republican delegate the great opportunity that the Republican party has, at this time, to perform a real service to the country by nominating Colonel Roosevelt.

A large number of delegates from favorite son States have assured me they are ready to support Colonel Roosevelt, after they have cast a complimentary vote for their candidate.

These delegates realize that the present critical situation calls for a national figure and are prepared to act on this at the proper time.

THE ROOSEVELT APPEAL.

The appeal to the delegates follows:

The Republican National Convention meets at a time of grave national concern.

For three years weakness and irresolution have characterised our government. The Democratic administration has failed to protect the lives of our citizens on the high seas or to hold accountable their destroyers.

Disorder and rapine on the Mexican border were ignored until they culminated in actual invasion of our country; then met with an insufficient and ill-equipped, though gallant military force, so inadequate and ill-supplied as to risk humiliation and disaster. Belligerent nations convinced of the administration's timidity and heedless of its verbal protests have openly disregarded international law and our rights as neutrals.

No adequate measures are being taken to end this national humiliation or to insure the country's safety. The Democratic President began by opposing preparation for defence, suddenly urged it with perfervid exhortation; then, dismissing a Cabinet officer who took him at his word, sanctioned an inadequate and vicious measure calculated only to give this country a false sense of security.

LEADERSHIP LACKING.

This irresolute in its foreign policy and irresolute at home, the Administration has permitted our citizens to become confused, uncertain, disunited. Leadership due them from their constituted authorities had been altogether lacking.

They have consequently divided into groups, some conditioned on allegiance to countries from which they or their ancestors came. Fostered by such circumstances, false leaders have arisen with vague assurances of security and evil counsels of inaction, adding to the confusion and exposing us to increasing dangers.

In its emergency our country turns to the Republican party for restoration and guidance. It will accept Republican leadership if real leadership is offered, but will turn away again from mere opportunism.

It is for us as Republicans patriotically and loyally disregarding all other motives to perform the required service in the spirit the occasion and our fellow-countrymen demand.

We urge a course for our party which we believe will instantly seven before election and inauguration of the new President) unite our citizens in a common purpose. The convention can meet the emergency with a single name. Its nomination for President will be the measure of the Republican capacity.

ROOSEVELT THE SPOKESMAN.

Theodore Roosevelt, without official title, without a vestige of official power, is by common consent in this supreme hour the spokesman of our Americanism. He first discerned the weakness of our foreign policy, now so humiliatingly and alarmingly apparent. While others were faltering, he first began to arouse our national consciousness, to vitalise it, to give it purpose.

He first had courage to lay bare the evils of divided allegiance among our citizens of foreign origin. His voice has been foremost in urging adequate preparation. He, almost unaided above the stress and confusion of the last two years, has upheld and kept untarnished the standard of our highest patriotism.

If a spokesman were enough, if a standard held high were enough, the nation would have no need to call Theodore Roosevelt again to the Presidency. Such service he is already performing. But they are not enough.

The courage of wisdom is to choose Theodore Roosevelt himself, not one of his imitators, however worthy.

He is probably the only candidate who can attract a large body of support from individual voters regardless of party. He is certainly the only candidate who will draw enormously from the Democratic party. He is the one who has made the clearest fight for Americanism and adequate defense.

We urge you to put aside all lesser considerations, to regard only the need of your country and the opportunity of your party to perform a high service, and to vote for his nomination in the convention.

"Senatorial Courtesy" Is Treason to the Nation

IF it is possible for an institution to be treasonable, that institution called "senatorial courtesy" is a rank traitor to the nation. It is a practice which has become an institution because it has existed and been persisted in through so many years.

This practice, which is known as "senatorial courtesy," is an understanding among the United States Senators that they will refuse to confirm an appointment by the President of the United States to one of the offices concerning which the Senate has constitutional power of appointment, if the appointee happens to be personally offensive to the particular Senator who represents the State of which the appointee is a resident. The practice does not recognize the merit of the appointee or the interest of the public. A Washington might be placed in command of the United States army; a Lincoln might be appointed on the Supreme Court; an Edison might be put on a national board for scientific research; a Peary might be selected to lead an Arctic expedition; a Goethals might be appointed to build another canal. Yet, if the Senator from the State in which any of these gentlemen happened to reside declared that this man was personally offensive, the Senate would refuse to confirm him.

It is an outrageous and unconstitutional and treasonable practice. The American people ought to understand the nature and see the results which follow the practice of this "senatorial courtesy" in the refusal of the Senate to confirm the appointment of Mr. Rublee to the Federal Trade Commission on the absurd objection of Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire. So strong was this "senatorial courtesy" that the appointment of a man whose eminent qualifications were recognized on all hands and challenged by none was refused confirmation by a Democratic Senate on the request of a Republican Senator. The basis of this practice is absolutely selfish, because the Senator behind the practice expects to be the beneficiary of it himself. It is simply another method of scratching each other's back—another method of disgraceful log-rolling.

We ought to wake up and compel the abolition of a practice so un-American, unconstitutional and harmful. Senator Hollis of New Hampshire has rendered the country a great service in compelling public attention to the baleful working of this "senatorial courtesy."

An Opportunity to Do a Splendid Work

THE Legislature has passed a resolve creating a recess committee to investigate the question of social insurance.

This question involves the taking of preventive measures by the State against disease and ill-health among the workers of the Commonwealth. It involves a study of sickness in its relation to the increased cost of living by reducing the productive power of labor. In Germany, where they first discovered the great benefits which flowed to the people from extending the functions and activities of the government, they have, among other things, established a form of health insurance that has been a great benefit to the German workingmen and of great economic value to Germany.

This committee can do a splendid work if it chooses. If its personnel regards its duties as imperative and important, it will work great good to the State. If it is composed of men who regard it merely as a job, it will cost more than it is worth.

A Rattlesnake Feels BAD

The Person Bitten Feels BADLY. A Question of Grammar

Copyright, 1916, by the Star Company.

Dear Sir:

In order to decide a discussion will you kindly decide which is proper:

"I feel 'bad' that this has happened, etc," or "I feel 'badly,' etc.," the word in question denoting distress on the part of the speaker. Also what part of speech.

Thanking you in advance, I am

Yours truly. S. J. L.

The word "bad" is an adjective. It describes a person or a thing.

The word "badly" is an adverb. It tells the way in which a certain thing is done.

If you are wicked or "bad" you FEEL bad. The rattlesnake, let us hope, FEELS bad, for he IS bad.

But if you are bitten by a rattlesnake, or disappointed in love, you feel "badly."

Nero FELT cruel. He ACTED cruelly.

In other words, you use an adjective to describe yourself. You use an adverb to describe HOW you feel, or act, or work.

The young man sitting up late at night and getting late to his work feels rapid, but does not do his work RAPIDLY.

HAS IT EVER HAPPENED TO YOU?

More Truth Than Poetry

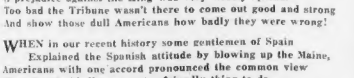
Prejudice

"In our histories and our experience tyrant means a British monarch, the stories of Concord, Lexington, Valley Forge and all the rest are stories that are told to our youth, and the telling has built up a prejudice which does endure. This prejudice has been accentuated by what happened in the War of 1812 and the Civil War. . . . It seems to the Tribune to be utterly ridiculous, but it is a fact."—New York Tribune.

BEFORE the days of Bunker Hill, when soldiers of the Crown
Considered it fine sport to shoot the Yankee farmers down,
The friends and fellow citizens of all the men who fell
Imagined that the British troops were not behaving well.
And as they took no pains at all to hide their discontent
They formed a prejudice against the British government.
Too bad the Tribune was not there, in those unhappy days,
To show the foolish colonists the error of their ways.

AND then again in 1812, when, at their King's desire,
The British army rudely set our Capitol on fire
And sacked the town of Washington before they took their flight,
The people of the country thought they had not acted right,
And by the speeches that they made and by the things they said
A prejudice against the King was very widely spread.
Too bad the Tribune wasn't there to come out good and strong
And show those dull Americans how badly they were wrong!

WHEN in our recent history some gentlemen of Spain
Explained the Spanish attitude by blowing up the Maine,
Americans with one accord pronounced the common view
That this decidedly was not a friendly thing to do.
And so much hostile talk there was in city, farm and town,
That there was built a prejudice against the Spanish Crown.
Yet though the Tribune must have thought this prejudice absurd,
Nobody can remember that it ever said a word!



Speaking From Experience

Mr. Wilson's use of the word "disservice" indicates that he must slip out now and then and eat a meal at one of the Washington hotels.

But Not Too Hard

"It is necessary," says the President, "for America to keep her head, and yet to have a very hard head." However, it does not need to be either of concrete or ivory.

War and the Birth Rate

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

PART I.

ANYBODY can prophesy, but it takes a clever prognosticator to have more than half his predictions come true. When the war first broke out, eugenists and pacifists, and biologists, historians and hysterians united in proclaiming with a loud voice that the deadliest and most serious damage of the war would fall not upon the present generation, but upon the generation yet unborn, and the future stamina and make-up of the race.

Whatever else might happen, whoever might win, whatever changes might be made in the long-suffering map of Europe, the one sure and inevitable result would be a tremendous falling off in the birth rate and a fearful increase in the already excessive surplus of females. There could hardly have been a more dignified and substantially supported prediction than this—grave scientists, eminent eugenic authorities, statisticians, political economists, all subscribed to the prophecy. Indeed, the result seemed to be as necessary and self-evident as that the juxtaposition and superposition of two and two will inevitably achieve the quadrate triumph of fourness. A large proportion of married men, particularly of the younger ages, when families are increasing at the most rapid rate, would be taken from their homes and kept away for months or even years; and an even larger percentage of young, unmarried men, at the very age when they were most likely to marry, would also be taken out of the country entirely and prevented from marrying, to say nothing of the percentage of both groups killed in battle. What else could possibly happen but a large decrease in the number of children born to the nation?

This it was clearly and indisputably pointed out would occur in highest degree and most striking fashion in those nations whose armies were filled by conscription and universal military service, and to a less noticeably in those which depended upon voluntary enlistment and had a much smaller proportion of their young adult males on the firing line.

At the end of a year of war the official records of vital statistics were consulted with fear and trembling, but showed a considerably smaller decline in births than had been predicted. This, it was explained, was due to the fact that many of the men, particularly in England and France, had been kept for the first three to six months in training camps, from which they could easily revisit their homes, and had not yet been sent to the front or out of the country.

But nine months more have now passed and this explanation will no longer hold, for the fighting has been so general and so bloody that fully three-fourths of all the men called to the colors have been sent to the front and many of the regiments decimated by actual service, while those who are now in the training camps are mostly young boys of eighteen or nineteen, not yet a factor in the birth rate.

Man's "Head-of-the-House" Mania

Dorothy Dix Advises Wives to Let Husbands Harbor Harmless Delusion That They Are the Family Pilots—It Makes Them Happy and Keeps Home Peaceful

By Dorothy Dix

THERE is one supreme desire common to practically all men. It is to be the Head of his House.

This yearning to be the czar of the hearthstone is a mania that causes men to commit countless follies, and it offers the true explanation of why so many of them pick out feminine fools for wives.

A man sees a clear-eyed, educated, sensible, practical woman who knows as much as he does, and is really fitted to be a companion and helpmeet to him, but he does not ask her to be his wife because he is afraid that she would usurp the domestic throne.

Then he meets up with a little simpering idiot of a girl, without an idea in her head, who looks as if she would be wax in his hands, and he straightway marries her, because he believes that she will never dispute his right to reign supreme in the household.

Of course things don't always work out according to this schedule. Indeed, they seldom do, for a reasonable woman can always be reasoned with, but a fool can never be turned from her folly, and there are no other such grinding domestic tyrannies as those established by weak, brainless wives.

It is, however, to men's fear that the clever woman will oust them from their jobs as heads of their houses that the smart girl so often owes the fact that she is a spinster.

Now, having obtained a husband, a woman's chief business in life is to keep him happy and pacified, and content with his lot. In doing this nothing is more important than for her to recognize this masculine fetich of being IT in the home, and her failure to do so is a potent source of domestic discord.

Let it never be forgotten that the United States is the only country in the world where the wife rules the roost—and that the United States leads the world in the number of divorces. The corespondent who breaks up many a home is the wife wearing the trousers.

The broad assumption that woman is the weaker vessel and that the husband is the more fitted by nature and training to be the head of the house and the arbiter of the family destiny is a lovely theory, but it does not always hold water. Neither does the contention that a woman should not marry a man whom she is not willing to obey and to whom she does not look up.

Many a man is eminently lovable, and livable, and marriageable, who is not qualified for the family pilot, and is not fitted to steer the domestic bark through a single whirlpool. Nevertheless, it is a foolish wife who ostentatiously takes charge of the wheel and announces that she is running things.

Since man loves to believe that he is the head of the house, it is a wise wife's place to foster the harmless illusion and let him derive all the pleasure possible from it. Moreover, the rewards are great, for the average man having had his authority recognized—his technical right to decide domestic questions conceded—doesn't really care a button what his wife does.

It is the principle that he stands out for, and when you hear a man announce that he is the master of his own house and that his wife never does anything without asking his permission, you may be sure not only that he is happily married, but that his wife is working him to the queen's taste. For in these days of emancipated women a husband is so grateful to a wife who acknowledges his authority that she may do with him as she will.

Yet in spite of this, the land is crowded with women who not only boss their husbands, but have no shame in making the poor creatures jump through the hoop in public to make a holiday for derisive onlookers.

Is there any woman who has established this kind of censorship over her husband vain enough to believe that he still loves her, or that he sticks to her for any other reason than because he lacks the courage to run away? If there is, she deludes herself.

The man who is subject to petticoat government despises himself, and he doubly and trebly hates and loathes the feminine tyrant before whom he trembles.

It is the part of a good wife to help her husband "save his face," as our diplomatic Chinese friends say, and to foster by her outward deference his faith that he is boss. It pleases him and it doesn't hurt her.

More than that, good taste demands it, for there are few more unattractive sights than that of the strenuous hen proclaiming that she is the cock of the walk. The husband has the right of the one who pays the freight to at least figure as the nominal head of the family, and it is a poor woman who begrudges him this empty honor.
